| Project Name | Project Lead | Start Date |
|--------------|--------------|------------|
| Lars_CSM | | N/A |
| LarsTester | | N/A |

Below the table is an "Add New Project" button. At the bottom right of the tooltip, there is a link that says "Disable all tooltips".
